Many of the victims of road traffic collisions are passengers in cars driven by those who are under the influence of drugs or over the alcohol limit, or are in cars that are hit by impaired drivers.

We've all heard stories where someone has made the decision to get behind the wheel whilst over the limit or on drugs, and then fatal consequences have been the result. Many of those drivers regret their decision but too often the damage is done and they have to face the consequences of their actions.

Information that Crimestoppers receives from local people can really make a difference. We know it can be difficult to speak up about crime, and even more awkward if it's about a friend, neighbour, colleague or close associate.

Being able to give information with no comeback is so worthwhile, as it helps the authorities tackle life-threatening behaviours, such as driving whilst under the influence of drink or drugs.
